A Range Of Products

We recognize that your tape storage requirements cover an incredible range of applications. And we manufacture a line of tape and tape cartridges to satisfy these diverse needs.

Starting with our Quantum HD tape and Quantum CL tape cartridge for the user who requires the highest quality product possible.

At the next level, we offer Memorex V tape and tape cartridges for dual density applications. And for those general purpose day-to-day applications, users can find a Memorex solution in the form of the Memorex Plus tape and tape cartridges.

In addition, Memorex tapes and tape cartridges are available in long-length units. By increasing the storage capacity, the long-length units save operator time and library space.

Last, for geoseismic applications, Memorex offers a line of reel-to-reel tape and tape cartridges designed to capture large blocks of data in a real-time environment.
